. . Build a great brick wall, and then make the escape. . . . Build it and they will escape. • Keep a lookout and be sure that the inmates are locked in. • Use the X-ray machine to check the inmates. • Keep the inmates in their cells. • Play crazy inmate to get them to hurry up. • Play old prisoners to calm them down. • Keep up on the activities of the warden, as they can slow the game down for you. • Do a good job as a warden, and you can give yourself a promotion. • You'll get a promotion, even if you do a terrible job. • You can sell the bricks for real money. • And you can buy junk and sell it for a profit. • And even use the junk to construct a prison block out of. The game begins with an inmate running away from the prison. The player as the warden has to catch him/her before they get to their cell. If he/she manages to stop the run-away inmate, he/she is given a score for a hit. The second inmate (the one who was running away) will run away again. The player as warden has to stop him/her before he/she can get to his/her cell, too. Each time the inmate is running away, the warden can take a shot at him/her. If he/she hits the inmate, the warden gets a bonus, but if he/she misses, he/she gets a penalty. If the warden stops the inmate, the warden gets a bonus. The game continues until one inmate reaches their cell. This is your boss. You have to keep him/her calm, and you have to make sure that he/she has the right stuff. If you do a good job, you get promoted. From the 2011 review: "The new twist in the game is the section you can use to repair the game. There is a repair tool that you can use for a limited time to fix problems in the game. There are plenty of problems to be fixed, but they must be done with the repair tool. You have to pay coins to use the repair tool, and you have to go back to your home screen to use it. This is not a very convenient feature, but it makes the game interesting." The difficulty of the game can be adjusted by the amount of bricks on the screen. It's 82157476af
